13th Annual Symposium on Communicating Complex Information

March 4th—5th
2024
Norfolk, VA

SCCI

Call for Proposals

SCCI examines the relationships between humans, technologies, and information by exploring how design and content choices influence our behavior when we interact with complex information in different contexts. The goal of the Symposium is to exchange ideas and share information on how to address the communication, design, and usability challenges associated with using complex information.

Proposals Due: Nov. 5, 2023

Poster Proposals Due: January 15, 2024
