

UC Santa Cruz Writing Program

FULL-TIME LECTURESHIPS

Come join us!

Key Details:

First Review	July 15, 2024 (open for applications June 15, 2024)
Start Date:	Fall 2024 (depending on availability), Winter 2024, Spring 2024
Degree required:	Masters, MFA and/or PhD
Course types:	Writing 1 (developmental writing) Writing 1E (multilingual developmental writing) Writing 2 (composition & research) Writ 25 & 26 (language acquisition & writing)
Course load:	7 courses over three quarters = full time (100%) summer courses available (not counted in 7-course load) (part-time also available)
Employment security:	one-year contract → two-year contract → three-year contract → continuing status
Course modalities:	in-person, hybrid, online
Also:	Leadership, curriculum-building, and other opportunities are available (compensated)

Direct questions to Amy Vidali, Writing Program Chair, at avidali@ucsc.edu

Website: <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/JPF01724>

↓ full details ↓

Writing Program Lectureships Job

#JPF01724 :: Writing Program / Humanities Division / UC Santa Cruz

Salary range: A reasonable estimate for an appointment to teach a standard five-credit course is $8,531 - $24,005. Compensation for Summer Session courses may vary from courses taught during the academic year.

Position duration: Appointments are typically made during one or more quarters of the regular academic year (fall, winter, and spring quarters), but they may also be made during Summer Session.

APPLICATION WINDOW

Open date: June 15, 2024 Next review date: Monday, Jul 15, 2024 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Final date: Saturday, Jun 14, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time) Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Writing Program at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for an ongoing pool of lecturers. Applicants with expertise in one or more of the following areas are invited to apply: Writing Studies, Rhetoric and Composition, and/or TESOL. The campus is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their teaching and other assigned duties. Successful applicants may be appointed to teach sections of (1) required first-year writing courses for those who have not satisfied the University of California's Entry-Level Writing Requirement (ELWR); (2) writing courses that satisfy the campus's General Education requirement for Composition, and/or (3) writing courses for multilingual students. Faculty in the Writing Program have the opportunity to serve on program committees and participate in program leadership and are compensated for their service activities. Successful candidates appointed to courses in the program would join a cadre of creative, dedicated teachers who engage in ongoing professional development that supports their work as instructors of writing. Approximately 50% of program faculty hold a doctoral degree. Sixty-four percent have continuing status, which confers additional stability in employment (see Article 7c of the Unit-18 MOU). To achieve continuing status, lecturers undergo an excellence review prior to their 18th quarter or 6th year of employment with the program. The hiring unit will not sponsor employment-eligible immigration statuses for this position. Internal candidates will be given priority consideration.

QUALIFICATIONS

Basic qualifications (required at time of application) Master's degree (or equivalent foreign degree) Experience in teaching college-level composition as the instructor of record. Formal graduate-level training in Rhetoric and Composition and/or TESOL. Knowledge of current theory and research in Rhetoric and Composition/TESOL. Experience working with a diverse student population.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter - Describe your approaches to teaching and the connection of those approaches to research in Rhetoric and Composition and/or TESOL, as well as detailed information on your knowledge of current theory and research in Rhetoric and Composition and/or TESOL.
- Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement addressing your understanding of the barriers facing traditionally underrepresented groups and your past and/or future contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion through teaching and professional or public service. Candidates are urged to review guidelines on statements (see <https://apo.ucsc.edu/diversity.html>) before preparing their application.
- Sample Course Syllabus - Provide a syllabus for a first-year writing course that would be appropriate at UCSC.
- Reference requirements 3 letters of reference required. Applications must include confidential letters of recommendation*. Note that your references, or dossier service, will submit their confidential letters directly to the UC Recruit System. *All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>.

Apply link: <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/JPF01724>

Help contact: fweigant@ucsc.edu

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to the Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064 or by phone at (831) 459-2686. Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check (see <https://www.uscis.gov/e-verify>). The university sponsors employment-based visas for nonresidents who are offered academic appointments at UC Santa Cruz (see <https://apo.ucsc.edu/policy/capm/102.530.html>). UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact Disability Management Services at roberts@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4602. UCSC is committed to addressing the spousal and partner employment needs of our candidates and employees. As part of this commitment, our institution is a member of the Northern California Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (NorCal HERC). Visit the NorCal HERC website at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-northern-california/> to search for open positions within a commutable distance of our institution. The University of California offers a competitive benefits package and a number of programs to support employee work/life balance. For information about employee benefits please visit <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/compensation-and-benefits/index.html> As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.